Comprehensive in scope and depth, it addresses a variety of psychosocial topics involving caregivers affected by pathology, impairment, functional limitation, and/or disability. Reality-based and practical in approach, it addresses very real issues in today's health care, acknowledging time as well as other constraints, and describes recommended roles and intervention strategies for care providers. Intended for students and professionals of all health care professions, additional features include: Clinical examples in each chapter that highlight key subject areas and real-world situations. 51 student journal entries in each chapter that represent an array of health care disciplines and patient/client problems. More than 200 reflective questions that conclude each chapter. Suggested additional readings that offer further personal accounts, histories, and insights.
